Clothing of religious origin in Europe - Prohibitions, restrictions and reasons

JÁNOS TAMÁS CZIGLE

Public and legal opinion on the wearing of religious clothes and symbols have undergone significant changes in the past couple of years. Regulations governing limitations and bans in public spaces, schools, security checks, at the workplace or even in the Courtroom raised sensitive questions, analyzed by both the European Court of Human Rights and the Court of the European Union. These questions mainly center on the freedom of religion, more specifically the free expression of religious beliefs and its possible limitations. This study aims to present certain aspects of this issue without the need for completeness.
